VPA'S Mission

Our mission is to provide sound leadership and a strong voice for planning in Vermont through education and information sharing, networking and professional development, community outreach, award and recognition programs, research and policy development, and effective representation before local, state, and federal governments.

We seek to advance both the art and science of planning by supporting and working with volunteer and professional planners, related organizations and interest groups, local and state officials, legislators, and anyone with a keen interest in planning policy and practice.

The Vermont League of Cities and Towns provides administrative services for VPA, and houses our resource library. All inquiries should be directed to the League offices in Montpelier, Vermont.
